"THE POOR MAN'S CROP."

Big Money in Flax Seed for Maco County Farmers.

Yesterday the REPUBLICAN reporter had a chat with H. S. Clark, of the Decatur Linseed Oil Works, the substance of which ought to be of personal financial interest to all farmers in this section of the state. In brief, Mr. Clark said: "You ought to tell-the farmers of this part of

Illinois that there is sure and big money in raising that seed for the Decatur murket. I will buy all I can get up to 200,-000 to 300,000 bushels, and it is raised with less expense and trouble than any grain I know of. In some sections it is called the 'poor man's crop,' because it is produced with so little care and expense Flaz seed is sown in March or April, and it is ready for harvest within 90 days, in ample time to use the same ground for wheat. The dax can be taken off in July. Eight bushels of seed will do for a field York sure to give its electoral vote to a of 10 acres. A farmer of this county put Republican that year is the invention of 10 acres in flax last year and he got 140 bushels. I paid him $1.25 a bushel for fact that New York is as morally cartain the seed, and this year he will enlarge to give its vote for any Republican who his flax field. He says the $175 he got is nominated as is Kansas. The strife for the seed was almost like finding it. between Hill and Cleveland settles that Any farmer who will give that seed raising a trial will not regret it. The oil mill is a fixture in Decatur, and farmers will always fin I an eager market right at home. kees, is still in Washington, and has a I have plenty of good seed to sell, but will let any responsible farmer have all he wants to put in, and wait until the crop is harvested for the pay. The market price for tlax seed varies a little, but it is generally as high as $1.25 per bushel. The farmers should call and see me. I think I could put them in the way of traydon about Tom Campbell's originalizing much of their ground to advan-

THE BALLOT BOX CASE

Lewis Haddon, Recalled, Proves an Interesting Witness.

THE IMPECUNIOSITY OF THE WOODS.

The Forger's Arrest, and the Fear Tha He Would be Bought Over by the Enemy-Didn't Know the Thing was Loaded.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The cross-examination of Lewis Hadden was continued yesterday morning before the House committee investigating the ballot-box To General Grosvenor witness admitted that he paid money to Mrs Wood. About the middle of last October Wood wrote that he was engaged in looking up the gun contract; that he had seen McLean, who was anxious that Halstead should not be elected Senator. He asked for $100 for himself and $50 for his wife, saying he could not reach 'his royal highness," who was traveling over the State. Witness did not feel called upon to give the money, and did not reply. Then Mrs. Wood came to his house and gave him a letter from Wood inclosed in a letter to herself. He told Mrs. Wood he would consider the matter.

The next morning he showed the lettor to Dr. Graydon, saying he did not feel like taking the responsibility himself. Graydon said he had better give her the money and handed him $150 which he gave Mrs. Wood. Graydon was looking after the interests of the party in Hamilton County, but was not a member of the committee. Did not tell Dr. tage. I have paid out thousands of dol- he did not tell him; perhaps because he was not thoroughly awakened the night he was called out of bed to see Mr. Halstead. Witness did not see the head of Campbell's paper and Campbell did not say there were any words except the names upon it. Did not then tell Governor Foraker that there was a contract in existence, but told him he After seeing the paper he questioned Wood about it. Asked why he had told the Governor that the fac simile resembled the paper he had seen in Campbell's hands, witness said it was because he recognized some of the names he had seen on Campbell's paper. Some days after the first payment to Mrs. Wood she called at his more money. It was near the close of

The witness went to her house, saw assistance. She showed him a letter from J. C. Campbell, written in an angry tone, in answer to something she had written about 'people living in glass houses." Witness had told Mr. Kurtz about the payment of $150. Believed Graydon reimbursed himself out of the campaign funds. The night of Woods' arrest Mrs. Woods called with her son upon witness (about midnight) and said that Wood wanted to see him at the station - She insisted on his coming and said that T. C. Campbell had a man there (at the station-house) who promised Wood that he would set him free if he would give up certain letters; that Wood did not want to do this and wanted to consult with witness. Witness refused to go, after she had appealed in vain for money. The next day he saw Graydon, who told him to use his own judgment; that it was a matter of giving it away; that the campaign was over and they were not responsible for Wood's trouble. That night Wood's son came to his house. He was in great distress about his father's arrest and his mother's worry and lack of money. He asked for money, saying his mother had no place to go, and that his mother would not bother him again. about money being offered to any one to go on Wood's bond. He knew very little about the ballot-box ne said, and had never asked any member of the Legislature to vote for it. He was asked some questions regarding the testimony given by George tampbell, and said there was not a word of truth in the testimony given by Campbell. Mr. Haddon said he had met George Campbell since he had been examined by the word had been said in connection with the investigation. Their conversation was in regard to some financial matters which were pending between them-

In answer to a question as to the information he had regarding the forged paper, he said he had no intimation that the paper was a forgery until i was so pronounced by the Commercial-Gazette. Witness denied having any knowledge connecting Messrs, Sherman, Butterworth and McKinley with the ballot-box complication. He denied having recommended Mr. Wood for the smoke inspectorship, but said he had told Mayor Mosly that Wood was a good Mr. Haddon also denied that he did this for the purpose of obtaining the forged paper from Wood. The money he had paid Mrs. Wood he had obtained from Dr. Graydon, and hunderstood that he was paying it out of the campaign fund. The money paid Wood after the forgery, he said, was paid him for political purposes as the did not wish to make things any wors in the State than they were The witness denied seeing the pape Wood had prepared until it was show to him by the committee. In concluding hts testimony Mr. Hadden denied certain statements which he had read from the record to the effect that he had been engaged in getting up a letter to offset the "Topp" letter. The committee theu adjourned until ten o'clock this morn

TROUBLES OF THE TRUST. Enjoined from Paying Out Moneys or SYNOPSIS OF THE QUEEN'S SPEECH,

Parting With Funds. NEW YORK, Feb. 12.-Judge O'Brien n the Supreme Court yesterday ren- At Peace with All Peoples-The Late dered a decision in the application of the North River Sugar Refining Company, against the Sugar Trust. for an injunction restraining the Trust from paying out any moneys or parting with my funds pending the result of a suit brought against the Trust for a co-partimership accounting. The receiver alment. leges that large dividends are being paid other members of the Trust, but withheld from the North River Company, which has been dissolved because joined the Trust.

Judge O'Brien states that in his opinion the plaintiff's view that the Trust agreement amounts to a co-partnership be of a most friendly nature. Referring seems to be sustained by the language to the recent imbroglio with Portuga of Judge Barrett and of the General Term in their decisions against the Trust. It is true that corparations can not legally form a co-partnership, and this fact is apt to lead to the conclusion that no act of the co-partnership will be recognized by the courts; but this is erroneous. Should the decision against the Trust be sustained by the Court of Appeals, it will not affect such acts as dividends, mortgages, deeds, etc., involving third partles, made during the Trust period. The present suit therefore has a valid basis of acand the injunction restraining the Trust from disposing of any property in which the North River Company has an interest should be granted. But pending the decision of the suit the Trust should be allowed to continue its ordinary business, pay ing dividends and making such disbursements as are required by the bus- welfare and strengthen my favorable coniness, being provented only from disposing of the property or assets themselves. The payment of dividends, however, should take place on consent of the court in order to make sure that such payments are not excessive, and do not trench upon the assets.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

New York, Feb. 12.-The World's

How New York is Killing Its Chances

Fair general committee met vesterday and received the report of the executive roundities on the present situation of the project. The report sets forth the legislative dead-lock at Albany and shifting the difficulty and cost attending the collection of titles and other internal matters, will be submitted; also a bill diminishing the difficulty and cost attending the States that Congress will never favor a scheme whereby the management of the rago, St. Louis and Washington have made non-partisan proposals, and one of hose places will get the fair if New York makes a partisan proposal. The commission named in the original bill sent to Albany was a non-partisan one. It consisted of sixty-six Republicans. forty-two Democrats, ten Independents and two Labor mon. The leading Republicans of the city are opposed to the State Senate's proposal to add twentytwo names, mostly of Republicans, to the commission. The report is signed by Elihu Root, W. W. Astor. C. A. Moore, W. C. Whitney and John M. Powers.

A resolution was offered indorsing the riews set forth in the report; protesting against the attempts to make the onterprise a partisan affair, and urging the Legislature to pass the bill as originally framed. Warner Miller and others framed. spoke in favor of the resolution, and it was adopted. The general committee then ad-

Report of the Committee Appointed to Test Electrical Executions. ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 42.-This morning the commission to test the electrical execution apparatus in State prisons will make their report to Superinten-dent of State Prisons Lathrop. The report will say that the questions to be solved were in the main whether the apparatus would kill, and also what number of volts were necessary, and patches, he said, the Lords would find, what kind of wire should be used. It when the papers were read, that Portuwas found that German silver wire gal had been frequently warned that it was found that terman sliver wire was impossible for England to accept which impos dred volts was about the maximum amount needed for horses; 'd larger animals, and about four hundred volts the maximum for small animals. At Auburn a horse and a calf were successfully experimented upon, and efforts made by Dr. Fell, of Buffalo, by the aid of improved machinery, to resuscitate the animal failed entirely, thus proving conclusively that it was not a case of suspended animation.

The committee in conclusion find that, in their opinion, each one of the apparatuses can be used successfully, and that death by electricity can be accomplished within four seconds. There is, in their opinion, ne cause for imagining that there will ever be any failure of results.

The Situation at Pierre, S. D. PIERRY, S. D., Feb. 12.—The situation here remains unchanged, although the excitement has somewhat Many attempts were made to effect a crossing. In some instances the boomers effected a landing, but were quickly pursued by troops and Indian police and brought back, quarters being given them in the guard house. People llving on the Mile-square are not allowed to leave under any erroumstances, and are running short of provisions. Much indignation is expressed that President Harrison should issue his proclamation opening the reservation, and then not give orders either withdrawing the troops or instructing them to abstain irom interfering.

The Iowa Dead-Lock.

DES Moines, Ia., Feb. 12.-Three ballots for Speaker were had in the House yesterday, each one resulting: Hamilton; 35; Wilson, 35. The probability is that an adjournment will be had without anything being done, and then Governor Larrabee will call an extra session for the purpose of seating Governorelect Boies, passing the appropriation bills, fixing the joint freight rates and considering the Prohibitory law.

A MIDNIGHT SCARE. The Fire at the Ottenhelmer & Co Store-Damage Slight.

What promised to be an ugly fire was discovered at Ottenheimer & Co.'s clothing store in the Powers block on East last night. It was first seen by Lawrence and Stober, the merchant policemen. Lawrence hurried off to notify Aaron Kaufman, who was found in bed in his room over Bradley Bros. store. That gentleman gave the keys to the officer, who hurried back to the store, and called out the fire department. Stober was trying to open the store with the key when Mr. Kaufman arrived on a run and did it hunself. Just then the fire-rigs dashed into the alley and in short order the firemen had the fire out. The Chemical crew did great work. The fire was found to be located at the stove hole opening of the furnace flue in the store-room The hole was covered over some years ago with a wooden lining, put up wher Durfee & Bro. occupied the room, and when the furnace was put in it was not known that the lining was there. The wood took fire and slowly burned until it broke into a bleze, going through the floor into the private office of Attorney Hugh Crea. Entrance to the store was effected by the firemen going through one of the small windows on the alley side, a window about 3x3 feet in size, and from that point the Chemical did its effective work speedily. Some of the stock was unavoidably damaged by the water throws. Quick work was also done in the law office, which the firemen entered through the hall door. The fire did no damage except to the fine and the base board in the law office. The store room was filled with smoke, and the doors were kept open for some time to let it escape. While the firemen were at work some one in the alley threw a brick through the window into the store and it broke a show case filled with gents' goods. The brick came very near hitting Mr. Kanfman who was watching the firemen at work. Some one had placed Al. and when one of the firemen started to go in there was an interfence on the part Merris. Fire Marshal Foster did not know that McGoodwin was in charge of the door, neither did Mr. Kaufman, The hose wagon team did not throw any water. The dandy Chemical did all the work, and again proved that it is just the thing for such tires. The damage will be adjusted in a few days when the store will be open again. James Veale Out of Business. A few days ago James Veale, the merchant tailor in the Ullrich block, made a bill of sale of his stock to a creditor in consideration] of promises which it appears were not fulfilled, and he refused to vacate. Last evening Kleine, Ditmer & Co., of Cincinnati, Ohio, who have Main street, between 12 and 1 o'clock claim of $1500 against Mr. Veale, got out a writ of replevin, and Constable Mid kiff served the papers, turning the stock over to Kleine. Notes on the Shoe and Barrel Factories-Numerous Inquiries.

Few Words to Men of Means-Capital Seek ing Investment.

COMMITTEE MEETING. Members of the shoe factory site committee met last night with Chairman F. M. Young, but as yet the exact location of the industry cannot be stated, as the deeds for the lots desired have not been secured. Within a day or two the exact location will be known.

The following named gentlemen were appointed as a sub-committee to close the contract for the erection of the brick shoe factory building, which will be 35x115 feet in size, three stories high with basement: O. Z. Greene, Michael Troutman and Peter Loeb.

THE BARREL FACTORY. Mr. G. B. Smith, the owner of the Decatur barrel factory, will soon hegin operations at the old wagon factory building on North Broadway. Mr. Smith has heen personally engaged for several days in getting the interior of the building in shape for use, and now has cooperage material in transit for Decatur. He has inserted advertisements in the newspapers of the larger cities for the employ ment of 30 skilled coopers, and by the time they appear he will be ready to begin the manufacture of pork, oil, liquor and other barrels for the Chicago and western market. OTHER FACTORIES COMING OUR WAY.

It is decidedly encouraging to chat with Secretary Clokey, of the Decatur Board of Trade, as to the bright future of Decatur in the factory line. He gives the boom interests of Decatur his personal attention, and has every point down pat. Every day he is becoming better acquainted with the manufacturers throughout the country. The success of Decatur in capturing two important industries has gone abroad, and in consequence numerous inquiries come to the Secretary in every mail. Another shoe factory, a watch and watch tool factory, a wagon factory, a shot gun and revolver factory, a hardware manufacturing company of Chicago, and an agricultural implements works are among the new enterprises offered Decatur, the conditions of which plants, in case of removal here, will be laid before the Board of Trade.

The people of Decatur may be assured that all of these enterprises will be carefully investigated before Board will recommend any of them to the public. Decatur wants no failure in any industry, and the gentlemen entrusted with the responsibility will take every step to prevent saids concerns from getting a foot-hold in our city.

Quite a number of the factory firm now knocking at our doors do not ask any sort of bonus—they simply ask that stock may be taken in the enterprises that the business may be enlarged and the growth of Decatur advanced. All parties interested in Decatur and vicinity who have capital to invest judiciously will do well to communicate the fact to Secretary Clokey, who will also be pleased to learn what particular line of industry in which men of means desire to place their money, so that action may be taken that wid add more factories to the Deca-

The recent organization of the Wayne Sulkyette Co., with a capital of $40,000, developed the fact that there is a great amount of home capital seeking profitable investment. the Characteristics of the Czar

The present autocrat of all the Russia came to the throne under circumstances specially calculated to impress him with the fact that the most powerful monarch is helpless against the consequences of serious discontent among even a fraction of his people. The lesson was not lost, and internal difficulties of various kinds have often given warning reminders of its significance. Alexander III undoubtedly endeavors more frequently than his predecessors to take into acount the sentiments and aspirations of

Though the word foreigner' is in the mind of the czar equivalent to a term of reproach he is himself, little as he sup-poses it very like a foreigner in his own country Thanks to the complete suppression of everything all touthing an expression of public opinion, he has little means of ascertaining the drift of national feeling, and from personal expertence he knows nothing of any class but the higher officials of the state. It must not be supposed that his consideration for the wants of his people is due only to selfish motives. Far from it. The present emperor of Russia is a liker of truly noble character thoroughly honest in purposes, sincerely religious kind in heart and most disinterestedly solicitous for the welfare of his country. There is, however, one strange apparent contradiction in his character which may vet have smister results

The czar is not gifted with the extraordinary intelligence which would be desirable in his position. No man is more modest as to his personal merits and ability but there is no man in this world so impressed with his own importance, in the peculiar light in which he views umself is the divinely appointed head of the only true faith and of a specially thosen people...The most devoted of husbands, he is ctiever conscious that his wife form a oreigner of alien faith, remains outside the pale, and consequently the empress ias as little influence in his counsels as if she were a stranger to him. The office of czar is, he considers a hely office, no other mortal than the holder of that office is on anything approaching the same evalted level

Any real crampposed light or injury o the chosen people, the Russians-to then semi-divine head, the czar-or to the only true faith, the orthodox Greek faith---will imme hately rouse all that is stubborn in the character of Alexander III, in I will be promptly avenged. A the lover of peace, he will nevertheless, without a moment's besit ition plunge is country into disastrons war against involds to fulfill what he considers to a his stored duties.

A decision which may be of some iniportance to the gilded youth of this as is the present fashion in our jurisprudence the American precedent, is that of a Massachusetts judge who had before him a case in which Mr Broad man Hall sued a tailor for the recovery of the price paid for a suit of custom made clothes, which the plaintiff averred. did not fit him Mr Hall, on ordering the clothes, left a deposit with the tailor In due time Mr Hall received the garments, which he found did not fit Ac cordingly he returned them to the tailor, asking that his money be refunded. This the defendant refused to do, and offered to alter the clothes so that they would fit, or also make the plaintiff a new suit. But the plaintiff would not accept the offer, saying that ' he had no more time to be experimented on Counsel for the plaintiff claimed that when the latter left the order for the clothes it was with the understanding that the were to prove satisfactory and that the defendant had received his part capital, provided the courts here adopt.

The judge who seems to be a second Solomon said be thought that when a tailor made any article of clotning for a person it was generally understood that it was to be a good fit. The tailor could have had the customer try on the cloth ing as many times as be chose in order to have it right, but as soon as the clothing was completed the contract was at an end. In view of this fact he said he would have to decide in favor of the plaintiff for a recovery in full of the money paid the defendant on the clothes A similar decision here might prove ruinous to the sutornal fraternity, but would be highly sitisfactory to the wear ers of the eccentric garments which some of them place on their unfortunate customers The precedent cited will nil
